

HEYSEN TRAIL

Upgrade to lift tourism

AN upgraded section of the Heysen Trail has been opened at King Head, providing a boost for recreation and tourism in the Victor Harbor area.

The upgraded section of the trail, which cost $90,000 and extends about 1.6km from the King Head car park, provides easier access to the long expanse of spectacular coastal cliffs between King Head and Waitpinga Beach.

The upgrade was one of many planned for the southern part of the Heysen Trail, including the recent upgrade to the Boat Harbor Beach section in Deep Creek Conservation Park.
